Hey — thanks for using Commercial. The app is made by Viral Builders, a small independent app studio. These Terms cover what you're agreeing to when you use the app. We've tried to write them like a person, with the legal parts kept tight enough to actually matter. By installing or using Commercial, you agree to what's below. If you don't, no hard feelings — just don't use it.

1. Who we are

Viral Builders. Contact: viralbuildersllc@gmail.com.

2. License

We grant you a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to install and use the app on Apple-branded iOS devices you own or control, for personal, non-commercial use. This works alongside Apple's Licensed Application End User License Agreement.

3. What Commercial does

Commercial helps you cut down screen time by blocking apps and categories you select, using Apple's Screen Time and Family Controls frameworks. To temporarily unblock something, you watch a rewarded video ad served by Google AdMob. You can also optionally pair an NFC card or tag with the app — when "Card Mode" is on, unlocking requires tapping that physical card.

We don't promise how many ads will be available or what length they'll be — that depends on AdMob and the ad market. We also don't control Apple's Screen Time framework, which can change or break at any time on their end.

4. About blocking — and what it isn't

Commercial is a productivity tool, not addiction treatment. No software-based blocker is bypass-proof — a determined person can uninstall the app, change device settings, restore a backup, or use another device. Use Commercial as one tool among many. It's not a substitute for professional help if you're struggling with compulsive behavior, internet addiction, or anything heavier.

The app doesn't give medical or mental-health advice. It's not designed to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent anything. If you need real support, please reach out to a qualified professional.

5. Don't do this stuff

When you're using Commercial, please don't:

- Break any law.
- Reverse-engineer, decompile, or extract source code from the app.
- Bypass or disable the blocking mechanism in ways the UI doesn't offer.
- Try to fraudulently generate ad impressions, clicks, or rewards.
- Use bots or scripts against the app or our infrastructure.
- Use the app on a device you don't own or control.
- Resell or commercially exploit the app without us saying yes in writing.

If you do, we may suspend or close your access without notice.

6. Permissions

The app asks for:

- Screen Time / Family Controls authorization — this is required for blocking apps. It's an Apple-provided framework, so behavior depends on Apple.
- NFC reader access (optional) — only used if you pair an NFC card for Card Mode. The app reads the card's identifier when you tap it; it never writes to the card and never sees other tags you scan with your phone.
- Tracking authorization (optional) — used by Google AdMob to serve more relevant ads. Denying this doesn't break the app; it just lowers ad earnings.

You can revoke any of these in iOS Settings anytime.

7. Affiliate links

The app may include affiliate links — places we link out to (currently Amazon, for buying an NFC card). When you buy something through one of those links, we may earn a small commission. It doesn't cost you anything extra. As an Amazon Associate, Viral Builders earns from qualifying purchases. Affiliate links don't influence what we build or recommend in the app — we link to what's actually useful.

8. Ads

Ads come from Google AdMob and similar networks. We don't control individual ads — content, claims, accuracy, behavior are on the advertiser and the network. By using Commercial, you're agreeing to see ads as part of the experience. Targeting depends on your iOS Tracking permission and the ad provider's policies.

9. The "as-is" part

Heads up — this section gets formal because it has to be enforceable. The short version: we built Commercial with care but we can't promise it'll be perfect, error-free, or always up.

TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW, THE APP AND ALL CONTENT, FEATURES, AND SERVICES ARE PROVIDED "AS IS" AND "AS AVAILABLE" WITHOUT WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, WHETHER EXPRESS, IMPLIED, OR STATUTORY, INCLUDING WITHOUT LIMITATION ANY WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, ACCURACY, OR QUIET ENJOYMENT.

WE DON'T WARRANT THAT THE APP WILL BE UNINTERRUPTED, ERROR-FREE, SECURE, FREE OF VIRUSES, OR THAT DEFECTS WILL BE CORRECTED. YOU USE THE APP AT YOUR OWN RISK.

10. Limits on what we owe

Commercial is a small indie app. If something goes sideways, here's the cap on what we're on the hook for:

(a) TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW, VIRAL BUILDERS, ITS OWNERS, EMPLOYEES, AGENTS, AND LICENSORS WILL NOT BE LIABLE FOR ANY INDIRECT, INCIDENTAL, SPECIAL, CONSEQUENTIAL, EXEMPLARY, OR PUNITIVE DAMAGES, OR FOR ANY LOSS OF PROFITS, REVENUE, DATA, USE, GOODWILL, OR OTHER INTANGIBLE LOSSES — REGARDLESS OF THE LEGAL THEORY AND WHETHER OR NOT WE'VE BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY.

(b) OUR TOTAL LIABILITY FOR ANY AND ALL CLAIMS RELATED TO COMMERCIAL WILL NOT EXCEED THE GREATER OF (i) WHAT YOU PAID US FOR THE APP IN THE TWELVE MONTHS BEFORE THE CLAIM (THE APP IS FREE, SO USUALLY ZERO), OR (ii) TWENTY-FIVE U.S. DOLLARS ($25.00).

Some places (parts of the EU, certain states) don't allow these limits — there, they apply only as far as the law allows.

11. If you cause us a problem

If your use of Commercial — or how you use what the app blocks or unblocks — causes someone to come after us, you agree to cover our costs (including reasonable legal fees) for dealing with it. We can take over the defense ourselves if we want, and you'd help us out as needed.

12. How disputes get resolved

Please read this — it changes how you'd take us to court if something went really wrong.

- (a) Arbitration instead of court. If we ever have a dispute, you and Viral Builders agree to handle it through binding individual arbitration with the American Arbitration Association under their Consumer Arbitration Rules — in Los Angeles County, California, or remotely. Either of us can still take small-claims court individually if we want.
- (b) No class actions. Claims are individual only — no class actions, no representative proceedings, no consolidating with other people's claims. (This is the standard protection apps use to avoid mass lawsuits.)
- (c) No jury trial. Both sides waive any right to a jury trial.
- (d) 30-day opt-out. If you don't want to be bound by arbitration, you can opt out by emailing viralbuildersllc@gmail.com within 30 days of first accepting these Terms. Include your name, the app you use, and that you're opting out. The rest of the Terms still apply.
- (e) Exceptions. Either of us can still go to court for IP infringement claims or unauthorized use of the app.

13. Stuff out of our control

If we can't deliver because of something outside our reasonable control — natural disasters, internet outages, Apple's Screen Time framework breaking, AdMob going down, governmental stuff — we're not on the hook.

14. Changes and our rights

We may update the app, change features, or update these Terms over time. Anything not specifically given to you in these Terms, we keep. If we update Terms, the "Last updated" date at the top reflects the change — keep using Commercial and you're accepting the update.

15. Apple's role

Apple distributes Commercial through the App Store but doesn't make it or stand behind it — that's us. A few things that need to be said for App Store distribution to work:

- Your license is limited to using the app on Apple-branded devices you own or control, per Apple's Usage Rules.
- If Commercial needs support or maintenance, that's on us. Apple isn't obligated to help.
- If Commercial doesn't work as promised under any warranty we're providing, you can notify Apple and they'll refund whatever you paid (if anything — the app is free). Beyond that, warranty handling is on us.

- If you (or anyone) has a claim about Commercial — product liability, regulatory, consumer protection, privacy, whatever — we handle it. Not Apple.
- If someone claims Commercial infringes their IP, we deal with the claim. Not Apple.
- You confirm you're not in a country the U.S. has an embargo on, and you're not on a U.S. sanctions list.
- Apple and Apple's subsidiaries are third-party beneficiaries of these Terms — meaning they can enforce them against you if they ever needed to.

16. Ending things

You can stop using Commercial any time — just uninstall it. We can suspend or close your access if you break these Terms, or for any other reason. A few sections survive after we part ways: the disclaimers, liability limits, indemnification, arbitration, governing law, and severability.

17. Which law applies

These Terms are governed by California law (without the conflict-of-laws bits). For anything not covered by arbitration, we both agree to the courts in Los Angeles County, California.

18. The fine print on the fine print

If any part of these Terms doesn't hold up legally, the rest still applies. If we don't enforce something right away, it doesn't mean we've given up the right to do it later. These Terms — plus our Privacy Policy and Apple's standard EULA — are the full agreement between us.
