I'm currently averaging 13,000 app downloads a month as a solo operator at Piñata Farms (an AI consumer app). I identified demand for a prank on TikTok, pushed the team to build it, and created the GTM which captured 17,000 downloads in the first month. The product now has 55,000 organic downloads and 112 million organic views, and I'm actively solving the constraints.

At 19 I did something similar — noticed unmet demand in the Gen Z consumer space, launched a clothing brand, and scaled it to $4K/mo profit in my dorm in 3 months. In my career I've personally amassed over 300 million organic views across brands I've built, worked for, or consumer trends I've started. I've been reverse engineering markets since I was 13 & made my first $2k trading items on rocket league.

Pinata Farms (Dec 2025-Pres 6mos)

AI Consumer App | Growth

- Averaging ~13,000 monthly downloads as a one man team for organic
- Took existing AI Videos feature from 0 -> 11.5 million short-form organic views in 5 days after finding the initial signal.
- Later identified demand for a prank, pushed the team to build, solo launched with 17,000 downloads in the first month.
- Built a TikTok Search Asset that drives consistent daily revenue without input.
- Mapped an entire funnel to reveal constraints. Actively prioritizing the three biggest levers.
- Killed many vanity metrics because they didn't lead to revenue (including 30 million views a month strategy, and multiple teams in the NFL, NBA, and NHL using our sounds).

- Built a team of 7 in college to launch an AI Virality Agent, killed it after poor signal

-Automated full AI content pipeline in the pre-agent era
